DETAILED ACTION

APPLICANTS' ARGUMENTS

Applicants' arguments/amendments filed 27 February 2004 have been fully considered and are deemed to be persuasive.

CLAIMS UNDER EXAMINATION

Claims herein under examination are claims 1-5. Claims 29-61 have been cancelled.

Election/Restriction Requirement

The elected invention ('Election' filed 03 November 2003) was drawn to a method, computer program product, and computing device for determining a sequence of a nucleic acid polymer. However, only claims 1-5 (method claims) remain drawn to the elected invention.

Currently amended claims 6-28 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: claims 6-28 are drawn to a method, computer program product, and computing device for assessing the reliability of assigned basecalls in a nucleic acid sequence determination.

The inventions of claims 1-5 (elected Group I) and claims 6-28 are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (M.P.E.P. § 806.04, M.P.E.P. § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are directed to methods having different functions, different effects, and different modes of operation. The function(s)/mode of operation of claims 1-5 (elected Group I) is for determining a sequence of a nucleic acid polymer; wherein said method requires: 1) obtaining data traces from an electrophoresis detection apparatus; 2) combining data traces via a cross-correlation coefficient to yield a composite trace; 3) detection peaks in the composite trace; and 4) determination of the sequence by assigning basecalls. The function(s)/mode of operation of claims 6-28 is to assess the reliability of assigned basecalls in a nucleic acid sequence determination. Although, claims 6-28 do not explicitly state steps for the assessment of reliability, considerable weight has been given to the preamble of these claims and therefore would require additional steps for the assessment of reliability. The determination of sequence would result in a final sequence, whereas reliability of basecall assignment is implied to result in a value (i.e. numerical) of the quality of said assignment. Additionally, the originally elected claims contained no such assessment of reliability assigned basecalls. Thus, the inventions of claims 1-5 (elected Group I; method of determining a sequence of a nucleic acid polymer) and claims 6-28 (drawn to a method, computer program product, and computing device for assessing the reliability of assigned basecalls in a nucleic acid sequence determination have different functions, different effects, and different modes of operation.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, and the search for each Group would require a non-coextensive non-patent literature search (the search required for one group is not required for any of the other groups), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Since Applicants have received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention (i.e. method for determining a sequence of a nucleic acid polymer), this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 6-28 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.142(b) and M.P.E.P. § 821.03.

Art Unit: 1631

ALLOWABLE CLAIMS

This application is in condition for allowance except for the presence of claims 6-28 to an invention non-elected. Applicants are requested to cancel the above noted claims or take other appropriate action.

ACTION IS FINAL, NECESSITATED BY AMENDMENT

Applicants' amendment necessitated the new restriction group (claims 6-28; drawn to a method, computer program product, and computing device for assessing the reliability of assigned basecalls in a nucleic acid sequence) presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See M.P.E.P. § 706.07(a). Applicants' are reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
